UNMASKED HI-JACKER HOLDS UP MAYFIELD GAS STATION HERE

ROBBER ALSO HUNTED FOR SIMILAR CRIMES IN THIS VICINITY

An unmasked hi-jacker is the object of a wide-spread search in this section following the robbery of the Wagnon Mayfield Filling Station, 222 West Seventh avenue, at 3 a. m. Monday.

Officers expressed belief that the man wanted here is also responsible for robberies in Palestine, Athens, Terrell, Wills Point and other East and East-Central Texas cities during the night.

E. H. Brown, 46, of 424 South Twelfth street, attendant in charge of the station from 6 p. m. to 6 a. m., was sitting in the station reading a book when he was accosted by the hi-jacker who he thought was an acquaintance.

"Unlock that cash register," Brown was ordered. After seeing the automatic pistol in the hands of the hi-jacker Brown complied.

"Back up against that wall," was the next order carried out.

After taking $10.25 in currency, halves and quarter, declining to bother about $4 in nickles and about $2 in pennies, the robber ordered Brown to hand him his (Brown's) purse.

"It didnt' have a thing in it—it was empty," Brown related and added that the robber was disgust-

Similar robberies occurred Sunday and early Monday in Terrell, Wills Point, Palestine and Corsicana and may have involved the same robber

Plane Survivors Spotted, Lost Again In Pacific

JOHNSTON ISLAND, Dec. 6—(AP)—Daylight over the mid-Pacific disclosed no trace today of 37 air force men missing in a ditched C-54 transport.

Three separate search planes had reported sighting flares from survivors during the night; one plane dropped a boat; and another circled the spot.

Dawn, however, showed an empty, tossing ocean, mocking the early optisim of air force and navy searchers that the missing men, or at least some of them, had been found.

The search was redoubled in the area about 475 miles southwest of this island and 1,200 miles southwest of Honolulu.

The plane, a troop carrier pound from Okinawa to Spokane, Wash., with ground personnel of the 98th Bomb group, was forced down at sea early Sunday when two engines failed.

A great search was organized immediately.

The navy patrol craft PC 1141 from Johnston Island was due to reach the survivors about 6 p.m. (EST). The escort aircraft carrier Rendova and the navy freighter Zelma were due at the scene about the same time.

Oficers directing the rescue operation said flares seen later indicated that at least some of the castaways had managed to board the boat.

Flares were sighted late Sunday night by a B-17 search plane which dropped a 27-foot boat.

The B-17 which made the first sighting was damaged in dropping the boat and returned immediately to Johnston Island with its radio broken and a hole in its fuselage.

A navy privateer re-located the men early today and took up a vigil overhead.

Relays of planes were to maintain this watch until the surface craft carried.

ANTI-COMMUNISTS IN BERLIN SCORE LARGE VICTORY AT ELECTION

GERMANS SWARM TO POLLS IN STINGING REBUKE TO SOVIETS

BERLIN, Dec. 6.—(AP)—A final count showed today blockaded Berliners slapped the Communists with 1,330,820 votes, each one a protest against Soviet occupation policies.

The central election bureau said 86.2 per cent of the eligible voters cast valid ballots yesterday in the three Western sectors for the regularly scheduled city elections, which the Communists boycotted.

The vote swept the Socialist party into power in the Western part of the city. Like the Christian Democrats and the Liberal Democrats, who ran second and third, the Socialists are anti-Communist.

Final Results.

The final results:

Social Democrats (Socialist)—558,100 (64.5 per cent.)

Christian Democrats (Conservative)—258,496 (19.4 per cent.)

Liberal Democrats (Conservative)—214,224 (16.1 per cent.)

In all, 1,586,090 Germans were eligible to vote in the constitutionally prescribed election in the three sectors, under American, British and French control. The Russians refused to conduct or permit voting in their sector. In voting the Western Berliners defied a variety of threats from the Communists.

Although the Communists had urged either a boycott of the polls or spoiling ballots, election officials said the number actually rendered invalid was not unusual.

The voters balloted for representatives in the city and borough assemblies. They voted for the party of their choice. Each party received seats in the assemblies in proportion to the share of total votes. The assemblymen are named by party executive committees.

Anti-Communist leaders regarded every ballot as a vote against Russian occupation policies.

Policies Set.

Although the election ordinarily would have been merely a local contest between rival political parties, the East-West struggle magnified it into a barometer indicating support of Soviet or Western policies.

Western Berliners, blockaded 100 miles behind the iron curtain, went to the polls with the exhortation of their leaders to vote "for freedom and against Communism."

The 94 per cent figure of eligible voters who cast ballots was doubly significant. Even if all nonvoters were Communists—which is not likely—they could not have pulled more than 16 per cent of the total In 1946 the Communists polled 19 per cent of the vote.

CHAMBERS AND HISS, ACCUSER, ACCUSED, READY TO TESTIFY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6—(AP)—The House un-American activities committee released oday sworn testimony of Whittaker Chambers that Alger Hiss, former state department official, gave him "restrictive" government documents that were relayed to a Russian agent.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—(AP)—A New York grand jury got a batch of evidence today from the spy hunters in Congress who call it "shocking" proof of a prewar Communist underground in the State Department.

On hand there were Alger Hiss and Whittaker Chambers—accused and accuser in a story of Red intrigue related by Chambers who says he once spied for the Communists and then turned on them.

Hiss, former State Department official, went to the New York courthouse under grand jury subpoena and awaited his turn to testify as Chambers appeared before the jurors.

An investigator for the House Un-American Activities Committee was asked to testify before the gran djury.

Documents Requested.

He is William A. Wheeler, sent by the committee to turn over secret papers uncovered last week by the committee. They were dispatched at Justice Department request to the grand jury which has inquired into Communist and subversive activities for a year and a half.

Department officials said last week that the Hiss-Chambers controversy might be reopened if the grand jury requested it. Hiss sued Chambers for $75,000 for saying Hiss belonged to a "Communist apparatus" in prewar days. Hiss said Friday that preliminary questioning in the libel suit turned up documents so important that he wanted the grand jury to investigate. He did not state their nature. He said Chambers produced them while Hiss' lawyer was questioning him.

Investigator Wheeler handed to the grand jury papers which the committee says an unnamed member of the underground in the State Department turned over to Chambers before the war for relay to Russian agents.

Chambers now is a Time Magazine editor.

The committee itself was reported to have been advised today by Sumner Wells, former undersecretarf of State that State Department documents obtained by the committee should not be made public because of their security importance.

Soviet Challenged To Prove Freedom Of Korea Republic

PARIS, Dec. 6—(AP)—Russia was challenged in the United Nations today to show proof that the "people's republic" she set up in North Korea is a free government.

Peter Fraser, prime minister of New Zealand, thumped the table as he declared in U. N. political committee debate.

"If there is a free government in North Korea, produce it."

Fraser led the attack on the Russian-sponsored regime which shut out U. N. observers when they tried to supervise elections there earlier this year.

The U. N. observers were admitted to U. S.-occupied Southern Korea where they supervised the elections which resulted in establishment of the Korean Republic.

Fraser said Russian block attacks on methods used to conduct the elections in the American zone were "claptrap."

Rejected Russian Proposal

Earlier the committee rejected a Russian proposal for immediate debate on the future of Italy's prewar colonies.

The nations of the Soviet sphere supported a Czechoslovak proposal to invite representatives of the Russian-sponsored North Korea regime to the committee debate. The representatives are reported now waiting in Prague.

Fraser challenged the Russians to show that the North Korea government was "a Democratic government and not an autocratic government. and to show whether or not it is a dictatorship, by whatever name it's called." He added that any who support ogstructions to the U. N. Korea commission are "disloyal to the United Nations."

China Reds Claim Encirclement Of Suchow Garrison

NANKING, Dec. 6—(AP)—The Chinese Communist radio reported tonight that Red forces had completed "an air-tight encirclement" of the nationalist former Suchow garrison in the developing battle for Nanking.

The garrison, comprising some 110,000 combat troops in the 16th, 13th and second army groups, abandoned Suchow last Wednesday in an effort to reach the trapped government 12th army group in the Suhsiep sector, about 45 miles to the south.

If the Communist claim is true, it means that only the government troops on the new Hwai river defense line enjoy freedom of movement in the region. The line was set up recently 100 miles northeast of Nanking, but is manned by relatively inferior troops.

The Red broadcast boasted that 20,000 government troops had been "annihilated," and added:

"If these troops refuse to surrender very soon, they will be entirely wiped out before long."

March Delayed

The Suchow garrison has been delayed in its southward march by Communists between 10 and 25 miles of the captured city. A government military spokesman said the three army groups veered westward, headed south again and were now about 35 miles southwest of Suchow.

But it was known that some 125,000 Communists under Gen. Chen Yi were massing across their path. The Red radio broadcast implied that other Communist forces had descended upon the Nationalist armies from the north and west.

The broadcast said those encircled also included civilian personnel of the Kuomintang (government) party and Suchow city officials.

Foreign military observers said the Suchow troops—largest government force in all East China—must break through the Reds or face probable annihilation. Having destroyed huge supply depots in the evacuation of Suchow, the troops are carrying only limited supplies.

The battle probably will be decisive, in any event. The immediate future of Chiang Kai-Shek's nationalist government is regarded as hinging on developments between 100 and 200 miles northwest of Nanking.

Following the evacuation of Suchow last Wednesday, government forces spearheaded by the 16th and crack second army groups feinted south and southeast. The 13th army group protected their rear.

Telzy, Acme Of Innocent Bystanders, Gets Fine To Go With Cuts, Bruises, Acquired In Vicinity Of Family Tiff

By BOB CAMPBELL
Daily Sun Staff.

Had the corporation courtroom been filled Monday morning the spectators would have sent their bulging hearts out to Telzy.

Telzy was, to put it down without decorations, a victim of circumstances and no telling what else.

Telzy—Telzy Jones, that is—proved beyond a reasonable doubt that he was talking when he should have been listening, a ragged old adage that still holds water.

As Telzy himself put it:

"I guess I just got a little too close."

Telzy Jones was just one of four men, three women who had their round in corporation court Monday morning.

Acting City Recorder Clay Nash was forced to call upon all his judicial wisdom and a scratch pad and pen to get the chain of events formally and correctly forged.

Frolics With Fisties.

It was, he discovered, a Sunday frolic with the fisties.

There were three Latin-American sisters, their eyes flashing, first hostility, then love, then amazement and then humor as Telzy, the man who stood too close, told his story.

There stood in all his Latin-American dignity, his grey hair nicely offset by a red jacket, his leather-like face drawn taunt with indignation, Raymond Gonzales, 63.

On one side of the courtroom sat his daughter, Mrs. Herbert Cobb. On the other sat two other daughters, Mrs. Spencer Joles and the wife of Telzy Joles.

Spencer and Telzy Joles, Cobb and the father of the girls all were charged with affray. The business happened Sunday at 683 North Thirteenth street.

Herbert Cobb told his story.

His little boy ran away. He and his wife worried. He fould his little boy at Raymond Gonzales' house. He took off his belt, being a strong advocate of the rule of spare the rod and spoil the child. He was prepared, he said to ad-

Two men were killed when a truck loaded with nitroglycerine disintegrated near Throckmorton. Eleven persons were killed in traffic accidents, four died in two plane crashes, three burned to death, four were shot and one was fatally stabbed.

Killed in the explosion of the nitro truck were Roger Towery, 31, the driver, and Willis Buchanan, Throckmorton rancher, who was passing in a pickup truck when the truck blew up Saturday.

Sterling H. Wooten, West Texas businessman, his wife and commercial pilot J. P. Bohannon were killed in the crash of a small plane near Houston Saturday. All were from Abile.

James C. King, 28, of Harlingen, was killed Sunday when the light

Court Grants New Hearing For Two Condemned Japs

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—(AP)—The supreme court agreed by a 5-4 vote today to review the cases of two wartime Japanese officials sentenced to die as war criminals. It set the hearing for Dec. 16.

The court also granted hearing on appeals filed by five other Japanese convicted of crimes against peace and given prison sentences.

All the Japanese attacked legality of their trials and contended the international military tribunal was illegally established by General Douglas MacArthur, the American occupation commander.

The two Japanese under sentence to be hanged are Gen. Kenji Doihara 64, and former Premier Koki Hirota, 70.

They will not have to be brought here personally for the hearings. Their attoneys waived a personal appearance for them.

Four of the five Japanese sentenced for crimes against peace were given life imprisonment. They are Koichi Kido, lord keeper of the privy seal and adviser to the emperor; Admiral Takasumi Oka, General Kenryo Sato, and Admiral Shigetaro Shaimada. The fifth man, Shigenori Togo, former foreign minister, was sentenced to 20 years.

The court's action was made known in an opinion by Justice Jackson.

After the appeals were filed here last Monday, General MacArthur announced that execution of the sentences given Dohihara and Hirota and of five other condemned Japanese warmakers would be deferred pending supreme court action. None of the five others filed appeals. Among them is wartime Premier Hideki Tojo.

Patrolmen Block Roads At Ennis In Bandit Hunt

DALLAS, Dec. 6—(AP)—State Highway patrol officers were blocking roads around Ennis today in a search for two men believed to have participated in five service station robberies last night and early today in East and East Central Texas.

Search for the men concentrated around Ennis after a '49 model car described as similar to one used in the robberies was faund abandoned on a highway south of there.

Apparently speeding from one town to another to commit the holdups in rapid order, the men gained a total of slightly more than $500. None of their victims was injured or harmed.

First of the robberies was reported at 11:15 p. m. last night at Terrell where a bandit wearing a brown hat and a grey top coat took $80 at pistol point.

A filling station operator at Wills Point lost $22.

Then at Palestine at 1:10 a. m. two men entered a service station and took $100.

Shortly later a service station attendant at Athens was robbed of $305 and a Corsicana station lost $10.25.

Inaugural Train Schedule Set For Washington Trip

The official Texas train to Washington for the inaugural ceremonies for President Truman and Vice Presiden-Elect Barkley Jan. 20, will leave Dallas over the MKT system Jan. 16, John C. Calhoun, arrangements committee chairman, stated Friday. The train will uroceed to St. Louis and will use the Pennsylvania Railroad the remainder of the distance.

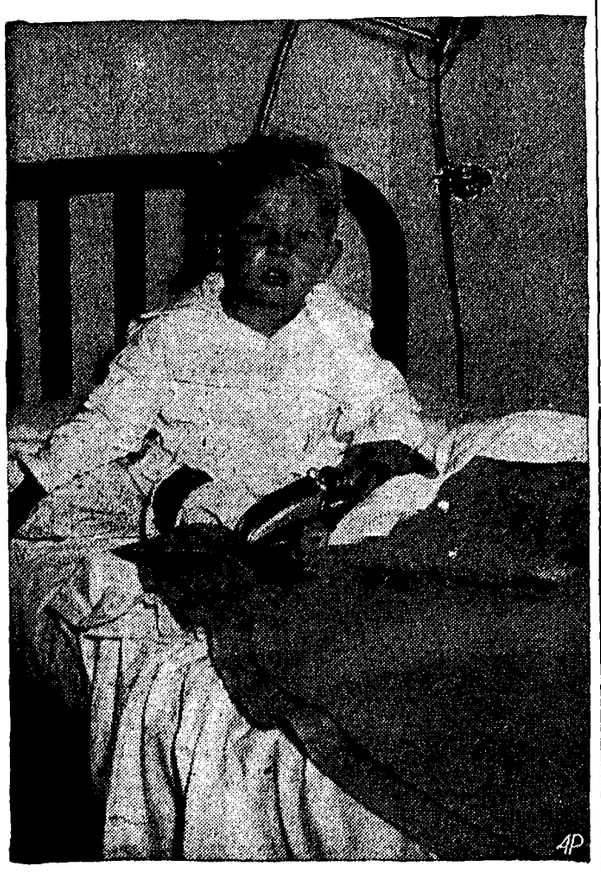

Calhoun, state Democratic chairman, was named the head of the inaugural arrangements committee last week by Wright Morrow, Houston, national Democratic committeeman. Calhoun and Burris C. Jackson of Hillsboro completed arrangements for the train in Dallas this week.

A portion of the special train will originate at San Antonio and Austin, it is believed, while contingents from other sections will join the main group in Dallas.

The committee has hotel accommodations for 200 in the Shoreham and Wardman Park Hotels, Calhoun said.

Calhoun and Jackson were authorized to complete arrangements this week at a meetingg of the full committee here Monday.

Chairman Calhoun said Friday that he had asked Tom L. Tyson, ...retary of the Texas Democratic ...utive committee, to be secre... for the inaugural arrange... committee.

Funds To Chinese Running Less Than Greek-Turkey Aid

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6—(AP)—American military aid to China is running somewhat under one-third of that to Greece and Turkey.

This became known today with estimates from government sources that fighting equipment valued at about $63,000,000 has been delivered to Chiang Kai-Shek's hard-pressed armies in the last year and a half.

During roughly the same period, the United States shipped arms and other military supplies worth $230,000,000 to Greece and Turkey under the Truman doctrine pledging to keep those nations out of Communist clutches.

How successful China may be in its desperate efforts to narrow the ratio of American aid to the two-Communist-menaced areas remains to be seen.

Those efforts currently are being pressed by Mme. Chiang, wife of the generalissimo, who flew here last Wednesday. China's first lady is due to meet President and Mrs. Truman early this week to voice her informal appeal for greater help from this country.

Chinese authorities here say the program she is proposing would cost the United States about $1,000,000,000 a year over the next three years.

Russians Urged To Disown 'Rump' Rule In Berlin

PARIS, Dec. 6—(AP)—The Western powers yesterday made a bid for Russia to disown the "rump" Communist government set up by the Soviets in Berlin and resume cooperation in a four-power administration.

Otherwise, they said, the chances for an agreement to end the deadlock in the blockaded former German capital will be considerably dimmed.

There was no hint of Rusisan agreement.

The western position was stated in a long memorandum sent by the United States, Britain and France to the committee of neutral experts set up by the U. N. security council to study the Berlin currency situation.

Informed sources said it was merely a coincident that the memorandum was delivered on the eve of the Berlin elections. These sources said the purpose of the memorandum was to bring the neutrals up to date on Berlin developments.

The committee of seven experts —one each from Canada, Belgium, Syria, Argentina, Columbia and China and one representing U. N. Secretary-General Trygve Lie—are considering ways to give Berlin a single currency.

O'Mahoney Asks Boost In Taxes As Hearings Open On Business Profits

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) today cited the 1929 financial crash as an argument for boosting business taxes, as the Senate-House committee opened two weeks of public hearings on profits.

Corporation earnings now are piling up at about the same rate as in 1929 although the companies are bigger. So the earnings are greater than ever before, O'Mahoney said.

"The conclusion we are asked to draw from this is that these profits should not be taxed," the senator told a reporter. "My conclusion is, on the contrary, that if the corporate profits of 1929 had been adequately taxed, this government would have been in a much better fiscal position than it was to meet the depression."

O'Mahoney is a member of the economic committee.

The Wyoming senator also is one of the leading congressional supporters of President Truman's twice-rejected plea to reimpose a modified form of the wartime excess profits tax to boost government revenue and try to curb inflation.

Senator Flanders (R-Vt.) who is presiding at the unusual profits study, is opposed to reviving the profits tax method.

But Flanders said the hearings will provide a background in the next congess for a wide variety of legislative proposals, including higher taxes, government price and rationing controls, housing, labor-management relations.

Industrialists, leaders of big labor unions, accountants and economists have been requested to give their views about what, if aything, congress should do about profits which are estimated at a record $20,000,000,000 for this year.

O'Mahoney said that earnings of the 100 largest corporations are nearly double the incomes of the same units in 1945.

He proposes that "little business" or small independent corporations be given special exemptions under any profits tax plan. This might be to exempt the first $50,000 or $100,000 of profits.

Two Harvard University economists, H. Slichter and Seymour Harris, were listed as today's witnesses before the Flanders subcommittee.

Oregon Champ Gridders Die In Road Crash

GRANTS PASS, Ore., Dec. 6.—(AP)—Two high school athletes were killed and 25 other members and coaches of the Grants Pass football team were injured when a bus overturned and burned near here Sunday night.

Survivors said the chartered bus was enveloped in flames immediately and that they escaped by smashing the windows.

Both of the victims were believed stunned when the bus overturned. Their charred bodies were foupnd two hours later in separate sections of the bus.

THE TROUBLESOME RUHR

The developing political situation regarding control of the Ruhr Valley in Germany must be viewed with mixed emotions. Great Britain and the United States, in control of the valley which is in the British zone, moved to go ahead with their plan to turn the industries over to the Germans, with limitations, despite French dissent. The French avoided a quarrel by accepting a voice in supervision of the area.

British and American leaders are anxious to move Germany toward economic revival, and regard this step in the Ruhr as essential to that purpose. The French demur because to them the Ruhr Valley is the historic source of German physical strength.

The rehabilitation of German industries is of compelling importance to Great Britain, which needs normal commerce with all of Europe, and to this country, which needs to get rid of the financial burden of sustaining Germany. Control of the Ruhr so as to prevent it from again becoming a German arsenal is also a matter of prim interest to France, and is a decisive political issue there. A French government which failed to safeguard this point would fall at once.

We have already lost the co-operation of Russia in Germany, partly because of the Anglo-American desire for economic recovery there. In the present Ruhr decision we risked a break with the French; if we had lost the risk our whole position in Germany would now become much more trying. The issue is only temporarily resolved now, and will arise again whenever the matter of a peace treaty for Germany is reopened by the four Powers.

GOOD DEED WELL DONE

Americans will agree that it was a kind act of Prsident Truman to intercede personally in behalf of the Washington, D. C., widow whom the Veterans Administration had failed to help. Her husband's $10,000 government insurance benefit should have been paid to her 10 months ago, yet one piece of red tape after another held up the money. The president's personal direction solved all the difficulties.

Said the widow: "With all the world problems to bother the President, it is a wonder that he took time to think of mine." She is right on that point, and others who may be having similar troubles should not get the idea of dropping a line to the President.

The consciousness of this good deed well done may be of some service to Mr. Truman in his struggles to help bring peace and prosperity to to the world.

WORLD PLAN FOR WHEAT

A new effort to make an international wheat agreement is planned by the United Nations Food and Agricultura Organization, meeting in Washington. Prsident Truman told the group he has reason to hope the next Congress may be more willing to have the United States join in such an agreement than was the last one. Apparently Russia and Argentina would still be missing if an agreement should be reached this winter.

The purpose is to stabilize the amount and price of wheat moving in world trade for five years. It is hoped that more wheat would then be produced, since growers would know in advance that there would be an export market for a certain quantity of wheat at an established minimum price. More trade in wheat also is viewed as an influence which might stimulate other commerce, and lead to other agreements for increasing it.

As long as the aim is abundance, wheat trade agreements should be good. Unquestionably there is need for more wheat in the world, and for better distribution of it. The same is true of other foods. However, in the long run there is likly to be a situation in which the world price drops below the treaty price. Then comes a tug-of-war between the aims of producing more and of supporting prices at a fixed level. A plan should be ready for that situation.

In the past history of the world, market surplus of food always has been the result of inability to buy it, rather than of having more than was needed. That should be borne in mind when agreements are made to hold prices at some fixed level over a period of years.

EARLY READING

Much discussion is heard and read on the nefarious influence of comic books and similar lurid examples of simple reading matter. Emphasis might better be placed on the positive aspects of the problem of guiding the early reading of children.

A child with an innate love of reading may devour any form of printed matter that comes his way. If constructive types of reading are not found in his home, he reads whatever he finds on the tables and bookshelves, or wherever he may look. The more active non-reading child is attracted by bright colors and pictures portraying simple action. There is an abundance of well illustrated children's books with a minimum of text which fill this need.

Parents who supply their children with a variety and abundance of good reading material, and teach them to find it in libraries and book stores, are providing the best antidote for undesirable comics. The public library stands ready to fill in the gaps between the parents' purchases and to advise on their selection.

The certain way to keep a child from being influenced by bad reading is to lead him into the delightful paths of good reading.

Russia got no support for an idea that the death penalty be abolished throughout the world in time of peace. The Russian system has a penalty worse than death, but few other nations would want to use it.

FIRST GREAT JOURNEY.

For weeks 'twas talked over, I needn't explain:
A child to go riding on a train!
A journey to Buffalo! It would be fun,
But always the questioning:
"Should it be done?"
To the aunt who would meet her, long telephone calls
Now Ellen Elizabeth's been to the Falls.

Excitement past telling! the suitcase to pack
With care to make certain that nothing she'd lack.
An eight-year-old traveler, lovely to see;
The porter who promised that safe she would be.
A journey that never monotony palls,
Now Ellen Elizabeth's been to the Falls!

Well here's to the fellow whoever he he,
Whose bride in the future she'll grow up to be.
When he asks for her choice of a honeymoon trip
By motor, by train, aeroplane or by ship,
I'm telling him now, and I hope he recalls,
That Ellen Elizabeth's been to the Falls!

Bootlegger Fined, Given Three-Day Jail Sentence On Contempt Charge

Carl (Tobe) Honea was fined $100 and was sentenced to three days in jail by A. P. Mays, judge of the Thirteenth Judicial District Court Saturday morning on a contempt of court proceedings.

Honea was cited as a result of the finding of 31 quarts of wine and 21 cans of beer near his home recently in a raid by Sheriff David Castles and Deputies R. E. Jones and Raymond Myrick. The officers testified of finding the alcoholic beverages and retracing tracks of the defendant to where the liquors were discovered in sacks.

Judge Mays in summing up the matter after the defense had not presented any evidence or arguments pointed out that Honea was named in an injunction granted in this Court in September, 1943, restraining and enjoining him from violating the liquor laws in Navarro county. Judge Mays said that "he (Honea) had repeatedly flounted this Court" by disregarding the injunction, pointing out that Honea had paid two $100 fines and three days jail sentences in March, 1944, and three similar fines and jail sentences in November, 1947.

The state was represented by Artie Stephens, assistant attorney general of Texas, and Charles T. Banister, county attorney.

Joe Anderson represented the defendant.

The $100 fine and three days in jail is the maximum allowed under the law, it was stated.

[illegible]ones Crowned Queen Of CHS At Annual Coronation Ceremony Friday Night

ERRY CATON NAMED KING; IMPLICITY IS KEYNOTE OF 29TH HIGH SCHOOL PROGRAM

By MRS. LYNNE A. WORTHAM
Sun Society Editor

Stately simplicity was the keynote in the setting Friday evening for the twenty-ninth annual Coronation at the High School Auditorium in which Miss Jill Jones, daughter of Mrs. Mary Fountain Jones, was crowned Queen of Corsicana High School by Jerry Caton, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Caton. The cloth-covered dais, which dominated the stage decor, was silhouetted against a glistening backdrop that centered the heavy-folded pinkish-beige drapery. Flanking the dais were pedestal vases of pastel-shaded chrysanthemums and rich seasonal greenery.

Entertainment Program

As a prelude to the entertainment program, the High School Band Ensemble presented a group of well-received selections under the direction of Herbert Lewis Hill.

The program of studio divertissements opened with a Gay Nineties Revue which featured Johnnie Clements, Jane Callaway, Patsy Boaz, Elaine Atkinson, Patsy Duncan, Nelson Galaway, Betty Lou Grady, Eddie Lee Galaway, Geraldine Stephenson, Billy Don Dempsey, Nettie Pearl Williams, and Karen Riley of Mrs. Elbert Walker's studio, with Mrs. H. L. Hardgrave as accompanist. The girls wore flowered chintz dresses with leg o'mutton sleeves and bustle backs, and the boys' costumes featured black derbies, square collars and bow ties.

In a blue crepe off-shoulder formal, with pink blossoms in her hair, Miss Barbara Higdon of the Trimble Studio sang "Your Eyes Have Told Me So", with Billie Dan Clark as accompanist.

Three offerings from the Cook School with Mrs. Gertrude Thompson as accompanist, featured Susana Cason, Virginia Dill, Jane Howell, Betty Ross, and Mary Worthy in "Service Please," Sue Alexander, Betsy Jane Kelton and Lynda Love in "Strictly-On-the-Corny-Side" and Diane Nicholson in "Country Cousin." The first group of entertainers wore green corduroy jumper dresses with white lace-ruffled underskirts, the second group wore paisley chintz prints with Dutch ruffled pantaloons, and the last performer was attired in a comedy, costume of varied hues.

Royal Procession.

Preceding the coronation, trumpet fanfares and announcements by the heralds, John Custer and Billy Inman, revealed the approach of the royal procession and the presentation of duchesses and dukes, princesses and princes, and finally the Queen and her retinue.

As members of the court stepped into the spotlight and were presented by the herald, they walked to the throne, curtsied to the King and took their places in semi-circular arrangement on each side of the stage.

They were accompanied by the inspiring rendition of famous coronation marches by the High School Band Ensemble under the direction of Herbert Lewis Hill.

Before-the-curtain entertainment by the band included "Imperial March" by King, "Serenade" by Romberg, "Sharpshooters" by Buchter, "Mars at Midnight" by Chas. Hill, "Knights of Youth" by Holmes, "Juke Box" (in five parts) and "Swinging on the Range" by Hill.

Sophomore Class.

Duchesses and dukes of the sophomore class were the first to be announced.

Miss Judy Johnston, escorted by Herbert Price, wore a formal of shell pink net accented with silver sequins and intertwined cording. The fitted bodice was shirred and threaded in silver, and the soft ruffle outlining the bare-shoulder decolletage, was further defined by the corded pattern in net. The circular skirt, fully flared and worn over a hoop, was ornamented with net dahlias, designed with wired petals and stems and foliage outlined in silver sequins. She wore short silver-threaded mitts, rhinestone ear-clips, and slippers of blush satin, and carried American Beauty roses and violets, encircled with matching satin loops.

Jack Rawson escorted Miss Mary Lynn Banks, who was attired in pale pink net over matching taffeta, which featured a molded bodice, large pouf sleeves, sweetheart neckline and full gathered skirt. She wore silver slippers and her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls. Her flowers were pink and orchid fringed chrysanthemums tied with silver ribbon.

The strapless bodice of Miss Diana DuBose's poinsettia red taffeta creation, slimly-contoured and outlined with a ruffle of the material, was accented with a band of silver sequins. The bouffant skirt, worn over a hoop and embellished with a wide band of silver sequins, was designed with double graduated folds of the material that terminated in bustle effect in the back. She wore a cap of silver sequins, rhinestone necklace and bracelet, and slippers and carried a fan of creamy white gardenias and carnations tied with egg-shell and silver ribbons. Her escort was Wynne Woolley.

Sky-blue taffeta and matching net were used in designing Miss Peggy Jean Andrews' coronation formal. The off-shoulder neckline of the tight-fitting bodice was draped with net and accented with a rhinestone clip, and her double net skirt was dotted with silver sequins. She wore a rhinestone necklace, net evening gloves sparkling with silver sequins, and blue evening slippers. Her flowers were American Beauty roses and violets tied with matching satin ribbons, and her escort was Kenneth Bailey.

Junor Class Representatives.

Miss Jo Ann Bigony, escorted by Walter Bond, wore emerald green slipper satin designed with becoming off-shoulder neckline, and an elongated bodice that terminated in soft shirred sections between folds of the satin and fashioned an effective draped hipline, with a large bow of the emerald green taffeta lined with gold, giving further accent. Below the drapery, the skirt fell in soft, rich folds over a double hooped skirt of satin. Her gold bracelet, earrings and choker and her arm bouquet of shocking pink carnations tied with matching streamers provided striking contrast for her emerald green formal.

Maroon velveteen, adorned with sequin-embellished cream-colored lace, formed the background for a cascade of Briarcliff roses, fuchsia malines and off-white satin ribbon carried by Miss Janet Nichols. The gown was designed with a fitted bodice that tapered to a point in the back, a French neckline that was defined with a full gathering of lace, tiny puffed sleeves of lace, and a bouffant skirt, ornamented with a row of sequined lace near the hemline. She wore a strand of pearls, matching earrings, and her ballerina slippers were of bronze. Bobby Staggs was Miss Nichols' escort.

For her coronation gown, Miss Ina Boyd chose a formal of violet taffeta, designed with molded bodice and a low, ruffled neckline fashioned of gold lace. The voluminous skirt sparkled with gold sequins and her accessories were of gold. She carried yellow roses interwoven with French malines leaves and tied with yellow satin ribbon, and her escort was John ny Crawford.

Miss Ruth Elaine Foster was presented in a coronation creation fashioned in Colonial manner and created of aqua net over matching taffeta. The fitted bodice of taffeta was styled with drop-shouldered neckline and accented with soft net ruffles over the shoulders. The hooped skirt of old-fashioned net ruffles also echoed the Colonial motif, and a necklace, earrings and sandals of gold completed her ensemble. She carried an arm bouquet of Talisman roses tied with gold ribbon streamers, which fell gracefully to the hemline and gave colorful contrast to her gown. Miss Foster was escorted by Chas. Roy Bristow.

Senior Class.

Miss Arlene Bigony, escorted by George Anderson, wore an attractive gown of light caramel color. Fashioned on a base of matching taffeta, the creation was styled of net embroidered with white and gold threads forming an intricate design in which scintillating rhinestones served as centers for flowers of net. The strapless bodice was created of soft shirring above a bouffant skirt. An ethereal effect was given by a stole of net, and she wore earrings, bracelet and necklace of rhinestones set in gold. Vanda orchids were used as coiffure ornamentation and her ballerina slippers were of gold. She carried an exotic bouquet of lavender sweet peas and Vanda orchids, centered with an orchid of rich, purple hue, and tied with lavender and gold ribbons.

Ashes of roses taffeta shimmered through Miss Pat Trimble's matching net formal, which was styled with sculptured bodice and bouffant double skirt and adorned with unbroken rows of iridescent sequins from hem to high-fitting neckline. The yoke, in bertha effect, was designed of sequins in scroll design, and evening slippers of ashes of roses satin completed her ensemble. She carried a fan of fuschia satin and pink illusion, outlined with Vanda orchids, centered with a fuschia orchid and tied with fuschia satin ribbons. Leon Wylie was Miss Trimble's escort.

Ronald Cavender escorted Miss Darline Rawson, who was attired in a gown of pastel green satin and matching marquisette. The fitted, off-the-shoulder bodice was designed of satin and the full waltz skirt of marquisette was caught at intervals with fresh rosebuds to reveal a matching underskirt of satin. She wore rhinestone jewelry, pastel green gloves and gold sandals, and carried pink roses centered with Vanda orchids and tied with contrasting satin ribbons.

Escorted by George Baum, Dolores Wyrick chose a formal of aqua taffeta, satin and net. The light-fitting bodice of shirred satin was created with a ruffle-adorned off-shoulder neckline, and the bouffant skirt of net was a-glitter with sprays of glistening sequins. She wore rhinestone earrings, necklace and bracelet and her slippers were of silver metallic cloth. She carried yellow carnations centered with a cluster of yellow orchids and tied with satin ribbons.

Princesses and Princes.

Following the duchesses and dukes of the sophomore, junior and senior classes were the princesses and princes of the three classes.

Miss Dorothy Beauchamp, princess of the sophomore class, was escorted by Duane Nutt. She chose a Colonial-inspired gown of aqua satin and net. The elongated bodice was designed with ruffled off-shoulder portrait neckline that gleamed with silver sequins. Sequin-encrusted ruffles created an apron effect at front of bouffant skirt, and terminated in a large satin bow at the waistline in the back. She wore silver accessories, and carried a cascade of American Beauty roses tied with streamers of matching satin ribbon.

Miss Zelma Hanson, princess of the junior class, was attired in orchid metallic cloth designed with off-shoulder bertha, molded bodice, and hooped skirt. Sandals of silver and a silver pin and earrings completed her ensemble. She carried deep rose carnations and lavender statice, arranged against a background of silver tricot leaves and lavender French malines and tied with lavender satin streamers. Frank Warfield was Miss Hanson's escort.

Miss Patsy Spradley's coronation formal, fashioned of yellow metallic marquisette, featured a long torso-bodice, scooped neckline accented by a narrow ruffle, a bustle of gladioli florets and a bouffant skirt. Accessories were yellow elbow-length marquisette gloves, and gold ballerina slippers, with gold tricot leaves adorning her coiffure. She carried a cascade arrangement of Vanda orchids and violets, centered with a purple orchid and tied with lavender satin streamers knotted with tricot leaves of contrasting hue. Miss Spradley was escorted by Pete Brown.

Queen Arrives.

The high point of the evening came with the arrival of the Queen of High School, who was heralded into the auditorium by a fanfare of trumpets and to the resounding applause of a capacity audience. The King remained standing until the Queen reached the stage and was crowned. The strains of a triumphal march provided an effective accompaniment as the Queen proceeded slowly down the aisle with her crown and train bearers.

The Queen was resplendently lovely in a gown of lustrous white slipper satin designed with sculptured bodice and off-shoulder neckline. Emphasized by soft folds of satin, the neckline was embellished at the center front with Alencon lace sparkling with rhinestones. The voluminous bouffant skirt was styled with a panel of Alencon lace lavishly sprinkled with glittering rhinestones and extending from waistline to hem. The extremely circular back of the skirt fell in soft cascades and the hipline was emphasized by large pads. She wore long rhinestone-studded mitts of Alencon lace and white satin slippers.

The sweeping court train was fashioned of traditional black velvet and encrusted with rhinestones and silver sequins. The crown of silver was also gemmed with sparkling rhinestones.

The Queen carried a cascade bouquet of white camellias, roses and frenched mums set in puffs of white satin and French malines, centered with a white orchid, and tied with white satin streamers.

Train Bearers.

Ann Peck, Sherry Smalling, Pat Nevins, Pam Bryant, Betty Hable and Adelaide McCormick, train bearers, wore frocks of silk net in pastel shades of green, blue, pink, aqua, yellow and violet, that were exact duplicates of dresses worn when the Queen was a train bearer in the coronation ceremony of 1936. The skirts, long, bouffant and ruffled, were adorned with clusters of velvet forget-me nots, and the empire bodices were designed with short pouf sleeves and ruffled berthas. They wore ballet slippers laced with silver ribbons.

Don Pederson, crown bearer, wore a white satin suit and carried the rhinestone crown on a white satin pillow.

After being announced by the herald, Miss Jones joined King Jerry at the throne and was crowned Queen of Corsicana High School. The royal entourage was then entertained with a series of sparkling divertissements by a quartet of attractive and talented high school girls.

Court Entertainers

In an aqua satin formal, sparkling with gold sequins, Miss Jane Dill contributed novelty vibraharp arrangements of "Indian Love Call" and "Serenade of the Bells" as the opening highlight of the court entertainment.

For her terpsichorean depiction of "A Valse" by Debussy, Miss Julia Ann Rankin wore a bouffant ballerina costume of shell pink net with rhinestone accessories and a halo of pink carnations. Billie Dan Clark was accompanist for the number.

Miss Mary Sue Shell, attired in ice-blue metal cloth studded with rhinestones and wearing a matching stole of rhinestone-studded illusion, sang "Will You Remember?" from "Maytime" with Edward French Hearn at the piano.

Miss Arliss Shell contributed whistling interpretations of "Star Dust" and "Smoke Gets In Your Eyes" as concluding features of the court entertainment. She wore a strapless formal of gold lame, with long, shoulder-length gloves of matching material, a stole of gold moire marquisette, and Talisman roses in her hair. Billie Dan Clark was at the piano.

Coronation Committee

In charge of arrangements for the coronation ceremony were Mrs. Gertrude Russell, Miss Faye Quinley, Miss Helen Bonner, Miss Laura Milam, L. P. Forsythe and Herbert Lewis Hill.

Two Dawson negroes suffered gunshot wounds at Dawson early Saturday morning, one purposely and the other accidentally, Sheriff David Castles reported.

William Lee Bell suffered shotgun pellet wounds in both legs while Arthur McHenry, apparently an innocent by-stander, was struck by several shots. Both received treatment at a Hubbard physician's office. The sheriff said officers were seeking another negro with whom Bell had engaged in an argument a short time before the shotgun blast. F. Foster Speeds 74 Yards Late In Fourth Quarter

By PAUL MOORE
Sun Sports Editor.

State Home Laddies remained undefeated and untied for the season Thursday night on historic Tiger Field turf by turning back a scrapping and inspired Brownsboro Bear eleven, 6-0. The Henderson county lads had given a most excellent account of themselves and deserved a better fate.

When the faithful few were despairing of the Laddies pulling the game out of the fire after having been roundly outplayed all of the second period. Floyd Foster, halfback for the Laddies, on the spread formation from which desperation passes were being flung, tucked the pigskin securely under his arm and darted toward the west sideline, ostensibly to flip another aerial, but he did not pass the ball!

Block Effective.

Cutting back while his interference gathered, Chink Downey plastered a block on the player that seemed destined to bring down the little guy (Foster) who works under the T formation—that was all that Foster needed—he sped away as other Laddies blocked for him and emerged into an open field and sped down the east sidelines—outdistancing Barnes of the Bears, who made a valient but futile effort to overhaul the twinkling toes of the speeding halfback who was able to put forth the extra effort required to elude his grasp.

With this run, the stands were thrown into a frenzy of excitement, and the hopes of the Henderson county contingent went by the wayside.

Visitors Leaders.

Had the game ended in a scoreless tie, the Bears would have earned the right to compete in the regional tussle since at the time the lone tally came, the visitors were leading in penetrations three to none, in first downs 7-5, and a comfortable margin in a gross yardage gained.

Brownsboro presented a well-knit forward wall that successfully bottled up most of the offensive weapons ordinarily shown by the Laddies.

That the Bears were in dead earnest was shown in the first period when Jeffie Dingler, quarterback, flipped a pass to Stanley Holman for 35 yards and then when State Home's defense stiffened B. M. Killingsworth punted out of bounds on the Laddies' one, putting the local champions in a hole.

Laddies Threaten.

State Home did well in the second with several good running gains and a pass, Foster to Macca Lawrence for 22, but the airtight line of the visitors rose to the occasion and stopped the best efforts of the State Home Lads before the 20-yard zone was reached.

During the half intermission, the fans were treated to formations and marches by the finely-appointed although new Brownsboro band. One of the features was "Prissy" Hart, a five-year old little lass who captivated those present with her baton twirling and other duties as a majorette. State Home pep squad followed the visitors on the field.

Coach Andrew Hanson must have devised an effective defense during the half, for his boys stopped the Laddies with a minus three yards rushing performance in the third stanza, while the boys from across Trinity river were rolling up 96 yards on the ground.

Carroll Was Threat.

Ralph Carroll was a continual threat to the Laddies and ripped off many substantial gains.

He spearheaded a drive that registered the first penetration with a 21-yard jaunt to the 29-yard line. Richards carried to the State Home 14 and Carroll made three to the 10, where the fighting Laddies forwards refused to be pushed around, swarmed through and over the visitors and caused the drive to bog down on the nine.

Another Penetration.

Brownsboro again registered a penetration after the punt was run back to the 25, with Carroll mainly responsible, but the drive was stopped.

Early in the final period, the visitors drew a costly 15-yard penalty for hoolding. Carroll made 13 of it back on the first try. State Home put the ball in play on her 18.

Downey lost 2—the fortunes of the Laddies were low with he Bears swarming all over them. Perona picked up 5 and then a pass, Chink Downey to W. A. Cannon, was good for 20 and a first down, and then Grodon flipped a 5-yard pass to Macca Lawrence. Things were looking fine and the faithful believed the Laddies were rolling to victory.

Pass Intercepted.

The enthusiasm was short-lived, however, when Killingsworth intercepted a pass and sprinted back 35 yards to the State Home 25 before he was finally pulled down. He was accorded excellent blocking by his mates and he was running hard. Richards made 4, Killingsworth made 3 to the 18 for the third penetration and then went six more to the 12 and a first down. A pass over the goal line was incomplete and then on the fourth down, the Laddies swarmed the passer down on the 26, from which point after a pass was incomplete, Foster took off on his spectacular exhibition of hard running that won the ball game after the 74 yard jaunt. Chink Downey missed the conversion after touchdown from placement.

State Home threatened to score again.

The Bears, trailing 6-0, opened up a passing attack in an effort to recapture the lead, but Downey stoopped that threat by intercepting a pass and returning 15 to the Brownsboro 25. The ball went over to Brownsboro on her 28 as the game ended.

ed and didn't like it about the empty purse.

"I was ordered into the dark rear room and then became frightened for the first time," Brown related. He heard the man running apparently either north toward Skillern's Drug Store or West on Seventh. He had pulled the door shut and did not see the man leave or hear a car start.

This was the second hi-jacking experience for Brown. He was robbed several years ago in Houston.

"Would you know the man?" a reporter asked.

"I sure would. I took a good look at him," he rejoined, and then describde the hi-jacker as follows:

About 30 years old, 135 or 140 pounds, wearing a leather coat, khaki pants and shirt, tan shoes and light brown hat pulled down on forehead.

The robbery was immediately reported to the police department which inaugurated an investigation and search.

Bruce Nutt, local police chief, said it was believed the man wanted here is responsible for the other robberies during the night since the descriptions tally.

Officers Join Search

Sheriff David Castles and H. E. Tucker, state highway patrolmen, joined Ellis county officers and patrolmen in a search for the two men.

The sheriff stated on his return to Corsicana about mid-morning that Ennis highway patrolmen speeding south on Highway 75 after the report was broadcast, saw a 1949 Ford maroon automobile, answering the description of the wanted vehicle, near Alma. Turning and giving chase, according to the sheriff, the front car turned off the highway on a gravel and dirt road with the highway patrolmen in pursuit in a similar car.

Two-Mile Chase

After about a two-mile chase, the sheriff said, the pursued car topped a hill and then was abandoned with two men escaping on foot in the darkness. They went by a farm house but barking dogs scared them away and then continued over a hill where the tracks were lost, Castles reported. Some loose silver was found in the abandoned automobile.

Castles said the automobile captured near Alma at an early hour this morning was reported stolen in Dallas. The stolen report was made from a North Pearl street address to Dallas officers at 9 a.m. today.

Bulldogs Tackle Wharton; Laddies Try Masonic Home

By TALMAGE CANANT
Sun Sports Staff

The last lap in the championship trail is in sight for the Navarro Junior College and Corsicana State Home grid teams, and the final test will come for both on Friday of this week.

The Bulldogs, now facing Wharton County for the Texas Junior College Athletic Conference crown, take on the Pioneers at Tiger Field Friday afternoon, Dec. 10 at 2:30.

The Laddies, bi-district champions, face the Mighty Mites of Masonic Home, and the game is tentatively scheduled for Friday night at 8:00 on TCU Stadium in Fort Worth. The Region 5 crown is in the balance, and that is as far as Class B competition goes this year.

Monday Workout

The Bulldogs will work the stiffness out of their bones in a light workout today, and were scheduled to watch pictures of the Navarro-Henderson County game late this afternoon at the college.

Coaches Clark and Akeridge knew of no new injuries to plague the Bulldogs, outside of one to Tommy Phillips. Phillips suffered a slight concussion when tackled after his 81-yard run Friday and was bothered with it a little over the week-end. Clark said this morning that he would miss Monday's workout but that the doctor had given the tackle an O.K. to work out Tuesday.

Bill Davis' ankle still is on the bad, and little work con be expected of him.

The rest of the squad is apparently in fairly good shape. Clark was still enthusiastic over the work of his line Friday. In particular, he liked the work of Harold Prestidge, the guard who played most of the afternoon in the Ranger backfield.

C. A. Frost, the unsung blocking back, drew more than his share of praise from Clark, as did J. D. Ganze, who saw a lot of action at the same spot last week.

Wharton Not Scouted

Navarro will be facing in the Pioneers a team that they have never seen or scouted during the entire year, while Wharton had an opportunity to scout the Bulldogs last Friday here.

That is not the exact state of affairs that meets with Clark's and Akridge's approval. They much prefer to have seen the team at least once in action. But, since that is impossible, they make the best of it.

The Pioneers boast the best record of any team the Bulldogs have met this year.

"No matter how good they are," Clark said Monday, these boys (the Bulldogs) will be giving them all they've got, and they'll have to earn eerything they get."

"One thing about it, they can't possibly have a better passer than Ranger had," he added.

Ticket Sales

Tickets for the Bulldog-Pioneer game are priced at 83 cents, $1.50 and $2.00, plus tax. Some reserved seats will be offered between the 30 and 40 yard lines at the $1.50 price, Ray Waller said Monday.

Like the Bulldogs, the Laddies come up against a most impressive team in the Mites of Masonic Home.

In the first place, the term "Mite" is misleading. Among Masonic's "Mites" are two 200-pound tackles.

In the second place, Masonic's entire squad numbers only 19 men.

In the third place, only 12 of them have played anything like a full game this season, and there have been no serious injuries on their team at all.

In an additional place, Masonic Home wasn't scored on until the bi-district game, while rolling up 350 points.

The Lads are still plagued with the usual injuries, but they can be depended on to give the same kind of hard performance that they have shown so far, which has been good enough to come over some tough opposition to their present position in the race.

The Masonic Home season record:

Masonic Home	Opp.
19 Keller	0
40 Azle	0
33 Godley	0
47 Midlothian	0
39 Aledo	0
7 Alvarado	0
40 Grapevine	0
24 Lake Worth	0
40 Mansfield	0
61 Grandview	0
13 Richardson	6

minister a mild, leather-lined reminder that, after all, home is the best place for a little boy.

Raymond Gonzales, the grandpa, came slamming with a crowbar, a good weapon in any argument. Spencer Joles joined in with a two-by-four, charged Cobb, later changing it to a three-by-three. And here came Telzy. Herbert Cobb suddenly found himself surrounded with men and weapons.

It would be imagined that Cobb would emerge the worse for wear and tear, but it is not true. In court he looked right fresh, for a man who had been dodging crowbars, two-by-fours, three-by-threes and knuckles.

Was Really Puffed.

It was Telzy who was a mess. Telzy grinned there. He had received a nice one right between the eyes, right where the nose hurts worse, and you could have planted a crop in the black loam around his eyes. He was really puffed.

Puffed, but not mad.

"I never said anything," he told Judge Nash. "I just ran out there to see what was happening and it happened to me. I just got a little too close, I guess. But I ain't mad. I always try to do what's right. I never got to hit a lick."

Telzy even laughed about it.

Mrs. Telzy told her story.

"My little brother was taking Cobb's boy home by the trail. He saw Herbert Cobb coming with his belt, and he took off. Herbert hit her daddy on the chin and knocked him against a tree. He said to my daddy: 'You stay out of the way, old man.' That's what he said, and hit him on the chin."

Everybody nodded approval, in part.

Judge Nash, after advising all of the defendants and their wives to try and attend to their own affairs, fined each of the men $10 for affray.

Telzy was the first out with the currency.

"Ten dollars of hard-earned money," he sad. "But here's mine."

He handed the money to Patrolman Kelsey Blakney and rubbed his battered nose.

Navarro's Cagers Begin Practice On YMCA Court

Navarro Junior College, still in the throes of a championship football season, sent its basketball players on the practice court this week for limbering up exercises in preparartion for the time when cage practice will begin in earnest.

Full-scale workouts have not begun, but nine members of the cage squad have been working out on the YMCA court during the week.

Some cagers, still playing football, will not get into bounce-ball play until the termination of the football season, whenever that is.

Coach Ken Clark, who doubles as basketball coach, has had little time to give to the cagers.

Three of last year's lettermen, led by Charlie Smith, the Bulldogs' high point man for the last two years, have been working out. The other two are J. H. Justice, smooth floor man, and Jerry Kenner, Powell product who is well-known in basketball in these parts.

Jack Holland is another letterman, but still wears the Bulldog moleskins. Hal Murphy, football manager, is likely to make a top-flight basketball prospect this year.

Ben Smith, Tiger cager last year, is a candidate for the squad, and Powell will have about five other representatives out for the team within a few days, Coach Clark said.

The conference schedule will probably start in mid-December, and Clark said that he would release the schedule for publication within the next few days.

The Bulldog cagers are scheduled to enter a pre-conference tournament at Clifton next Thursday, but may withdraw in order to see the state championship football game here next Friday afternoon.

Parents Should Work With Children To Defeat Delinquency, Speaker Says

By TALMADGE CANANT
Daily Sun Staff

"You, as parents, should work with your children to defeat the idea of youth delinquency, because when the kids have something to do, there is no such thing," Kenneth G. Bentz told Navarro District Boy Scout officials at their annual banquet Thursday night here.

Bentz, who is deputy regional Scout executive of Region 9 and who has been in Scouting for over a quarter of a century, was an instant hit with the assembled Scouters.

"I only want to leave one kernel of thought with you tonight," he said, "That there is only one real product of Navarro county that is really worth while. That is a boy who is trained, who is sound morally, mentally and physically, and is ready to live a fine life in years to come."

Six Principles

Bentz stressed the following six important principles affecting scouting:

1. The importance of transplanting the ideas of Scouting into living. "It is the understanding of people all over the world that Scouting is a good thing."

2. The importance of the great partnership between the Scouts and the Churches. "The movement is proud of that relationship, and Scouting wants to be an integral part of the church program."

3. The importance of the experiences of a Boy Scout in his troop.

4. The importance of the Scoutmaster's job.

5. The importance of the new committee just named for Navarro's district. "It has a great job to do in developing interest. The parents, particularly, must furnish more than just the boys. They must interest themselves and carry on interest in behalf of their sons."

"Cobweb of Influence"

6. The importance of the "cobweb of influence" that surrounds the boy in any community. "Emerson's thought that 'I am a part of all whom I have met' is a good one. The boy will be what the total of that cobweb makes him."

About 60 guests were present at the banquet from all parts of Navarro's district.

Rev. Carroll Thompson of Kerens gave the invocation, and Rev. Erwin F. Bohmfalk presided as master of ceremonies. Following the dinner, Don Winslow led a song session.

Si Tekell, newly-elected district chairman, conducted the community roll call. The new chairman also paid triubte to Suttle Roberts, who served as chairman for two years, and pledged his own unswerving support to the Scouting movement during his tenure of office.

John McAdams presented the nominating committe reports, consisting of the new slate of officers drawn up and accepted earlier this week.

Morris Battle presented E. E. Collins of the State Home here with the Scoutmaster's Key, a leadership training award for his fine work in the five years he has been active in Scout work.

Collins, who is scoutmaster of two troops, Cubmaster of one, and adviser to a senior unit, has produced six Eagle scouts. Collins himself holds the Eagle Scout Badge with bronze and gold palms.

Scout Field Executive Art Young introduced the four Eagle Scouts who received their awards during 1948. They were Johnny Crawford, Jo Bert Sisson, Kenneth Woods and Dan Shrader.

Corsicana will be the site for the championship football game of the Texas Junior College Athletic conference Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

This was determined late Friday night at a conference between Navarro and Wharton County officials at the Navarro Hotel following the 21-13 victory of the local football club over the Ranger Rangers for the North Zone title.

"Heads" called a Wharton County Carnival representative as a coin was flipped into the air by Ray L. Waller, president of the local college. It was "tails" and Tiger Field will be the site for a state championship battle again.

Admission prices will be $2.20 for reserved seats, $1.80 for general admission and $1 for students. Details of ticket sales will be worked out over the week-end.

Cardinals Lose One Game

The Cardinals have established an enviable season's record, losing only one ball game in ten and that was the first of the year following an automobile mishap that injured the coach and 13 players a week before a Louisiana appearance.

The Cardinals are coached by Johnnie Frankie, a line star of Rice and former assistant coach at Texas A. and M. College. He finished Rice in 1937. Tom Pickett, a Temple product who is well-known here, a graduate of Texas A. and M. College where he was a star, is assistant and backfield coach for the South Texans.

The visiting club has scored 353 points to 105 for the opposition. In several games both have played, the Wharton crew have run up more impressive margins than did the Bulldogs.

Navarro has a better defensive record.

Bill Reed Scores Three Touchdowns To Give Local Squad 21-13 Triumph

By TALMADGE CANANT
Sun Sports Staff.

Navarro Junror College struck swiftly, three times in the third period Friday afternoon at Tiger Field to defeat the Ranger Junior College Rangers 21-13 and take the North Zone championship of the Texas Junior College Athletic conference.

After a hard-fought, scoreless first half, the red-clad Bulldogs exploded in the opening minutes of the third period, blocked a Ranger punt and scored. Twice more the locals scored before that quarter was over, then settled back to play conservative defensive ball and take a comfortable decision.

Ranger scored twice in the fourth period, but it was against a Navarro team that knew how much time there was left, and how many touchdowns the Rangers needed to win.

Line Performs Again.

The Navarro line rose up in its wrath again and demonstrated what a monumental part it plays in the Navarro football fortunes, which have taken the Bulldogs to this high point in the third year of the college's life.

The first Bulldog touchdown was set up when the whole line went through to block Bob Gene Williams' punt inside the 15, and Jerry Loftis recovered on the 8. Jimmy Andrews, a lightweight who runs like a heavyweight, plunged to the 3 on the next play. Brown rammed to the 1 and Bill Reed took it over on a sneak. Jack Holland converted his first of three straight.

Reed, the 134-pound package of dynamite who is a familiar sight to Corsicanans, was never better. He scored all three of Navarro's touchdowns—two on sneaks and one on a 5-yard gallop.

Reed worked the sneak again just a few minutes later, when the most spectacular play of the game cropped up and set the crowd on fire.

Phillips' Run.

Behind the accurate passing of Junior Arterburn, who completed 11 out of 12 for the day, the Rangers drove to the Navarro 15, where they had a first down and Navarro took time out. On the first play, Arterburn tried to pass, someone hit his arm, and the ball flew a few feet straight up in the air. It came down in the arms of Tommy Phillips, 208-pound tackle, and he set sail for Ranger's goal. His blocking on the way was superb, but Franklin Ford overhauled him on the 4-yard line, where he went down and was injured as he was tackled. Reed went over on a sneak two plays later and Holland converted to make it 14-0.

Reed helped set up the following touchdown, returning a Ranger punt from the Navarro 35 to the Ranger 40. Reed hit Loftis with a pass on the Ranger 28, and two plays later ran to the 23. Jack Holland, who added power running to his kicking repertoire, rammed for a first down on the Ranger 16. Pete Willard skirted end to the 5.

Exchange Penalties.

There was an exchange of 5-yard penalties there, and then Reed skirted right end for the TD. Holland again converted.

As the fourth period started, Ranger managed to score in four plays. Arterburn passed to Frazier in midfield and then skirted right end on a fake to the Navarro 18. After a 2-yard loss, Arterburn passed over center to Franklin Ford, who picked his way down for a TD. McClendon's kick was wide, and the score read, Navarro 21, Ranger 6.

Ranger's final score came about after Reed's pass was intercepted on the Ranger 46. Franklin Ford took over the passing chores and tossed a beauty downfield to Howard Frazier that went all the way for a touchdown. McClendon hit the uprights this time, and it was 21-13.

Time was running short, however, and the game ended with Navarro in possession on its own 41.

The first half of the game was a scoreless, hard-fought melee. Ranger had threatened, strictly on the ground, twice, but was turned back twice inside the Navarro 20 by a stubborn line that wouldn't give up. Navarro manufactured two threats of its own in the closing minutes of the first half, but was rebuffed in like fashion.

Hold Back Passes.

Both teams seemed afraid to pass in the first half. There was passing talent on both sides, and both the Bulldogs and the Rangers seemed content to leave the aerials alone until necessity made them use them.

Junior Arterburn had the best passing record for the afternoon, but Navarro had the touchdowns.

The ailing ankle of Bill Davis kept him from making many gains, but Davis' absence made room for some backfield talent that came into its own. Jack Holland, despite a broken finger, did well in the power running department, not to mention the point after kicking.

Jimmy Andrews and Pete Willard delighted the fans with some fancy running for short gains at times.

In the defensive back department, Aubrey Dean, better known as "No. 20," to the fans, was unsurpassed on the field. Lloyd Longino was practically the same. Jerry Loftis turned in one of his best games of the season at end snagging plenty of yardage on his pass receiving.

As usual, the line was full of heroes. Their performance was the keystone of the Bulldog game.

It was a perfect day for football, and the biggest crowd of the season watched the Bulldogs turn the trick.

The Navarro band put on its very interesting halftime show sprinkled with precision marching. The Ranger High school band played and marched at the half for the visitnors.

Starting Lineups.

Greek Guerrillas Not Followers Of Communism, State PMA Head Asserts; Charges Dictatorship Exists There

By BOB CAMPELL
Daily Sun Staff

The men and women of Navarro County whose lives are embedded in a nation's soil were told Thursday night that the guerrillas of Greece aren't followers of Communism.

They are just hungry.

B. F. Vance, Bryan, state director of the Production Marketing Administration, who went into Greece and stayed a year wrestling with its agricultural chaos, made the statement during a talk before the Navarro County Agricultural Workers Association. The dinner was held in the Blue Room of George's Grill.

Vance, declaring that "the government of Greece is just about as rotten as you will find in the world," blamed the quicky raids and irregular warfare that typifies the guerrilla, not on isms but on emptiness of stomach.

People Need Food

"It was not possible to get United Nations rehabilitation and relief to all," he said, referring to the rugged mountainlands where the guerrillas operated. "Those people were needing food. It was an ideal situation for Communism, an ideal situation for Communist leaders to form the guerrilla bands.

"But it is my opinion, and I think the opinion of every American who has been in Greece since the war ended, that the Greek guerrilla is not a Communist. He was and is hungry.

"They are no doubt being led by Communists, and arms are probably coming from Bulgaria and Roumania and Yugo-Slavia, but the Greek individual is far from a Communist. If the food had got there, I think there would have been no guerrillas."

Tribute to Farmer

Vance paid tribute to the American farmer and those who work with him for constantly supplying "the one good weapon against Communism—food."

The speaker lustily rapped the existing government, declaring it neither monarchy, as the Greeks claim, nor a Democracy, as some are prone to think. He branded it a dictatorship.

"The laws subdue the poor man and the rich reap a harvest from his work," he declared.

"There is a tax on what the farmer has to sell. There is a tax for every article manufactured. And there is a tax all the way down the line. As a result a farmer sells a little cotton for 30 cents a pound, but he can't buy a shirt for $8. The poor, being unable to buy the finished product, must weave their own clothes."

At that, he pointed out, land is worth $2,600 an acre and not for sale. The average farm is two acres, a "big farmer" has 50 acres, and a few of the more fabulous ones in the northern part have 200-acre plots.

Greek People Grateful

Vance declared that 95 percent of the Greek people are "extremely grateful" for the aid given by the United States.

"You have given without hope of receiving any material return or benefit," he declared. "You have returned to you goodwill."

The speaker told of the ravages of erosion in the country, decrying the loss of most of the topsoil in the nation as a whole. His talk was followed by motion pictures he took in Greece.

Vance was introduced by Cline T. Young, W. H. Walker, outgoing chairman, presided.

Ocie Cauble, head of the Navarro County Electric Cooperative, was named chairman for 1949. J. H. Davis of Mildred was elected vice-chairman, and Harrison Fendley Farm Security Administration official, was selected secretary and treasurer.

Outgoing officers, in addition to Walker, are Miss Eva Sue Merritt, vice chairman, and Ralph Evans, secretary-treasurer.

The next meeting was set for Jan. 6.

The Message Of Pain

By W. P. BROWN
Of Johnson's Pharmacy

Pain is the body's way of telling you something is wrong. Never dismiss its warning without finding out what the cause is..and don't wait too long to have a physician locate the trouble when pain reoccurs constantly, even if it is slight.

Taking drugs which kill the pain, gives only temporary relief, and merely prolongs the illness. Consult a physician and let him determine the cause and, if needed prescribe medicine.

The physician's prescription is always the most suitable and effective treatment ..let him recommend a pharmacy where you may be certain of the best in the compounding of medicines.
